

The 1st Asia-Pacific NMR Symposium

Call for Papers
November 10th-11th, 2005
Osanbashi Hall, Yokohama, Japan

We cordially invite you to attend the 1st Asia-Pacific NMR Symposium! This symposium will be held in Yokohama, Japan, Thursday, November 10th to Friday, November 11th, 2005. Yokohama, located 40 km west of Tokyo, is an international centre for cutting-edge scientific research.

This symposium will provide a unique opportunity for discussion and collaboration among scientists from Asia-Pacific countries. Focusing on state-of-the-art methodology and recent developments in NMR spectroscopy application, this symposium boasts an unparalleled scientific opportunity for all attendees.

The program will consist of keynote and plenary lectures, as well as contributed papers in both parallel and poster sessions.

As young scientists are particularly encouraged to participate, travel support will be provided to a limited number of young registrars. Young scientists should submit abstracts by June 30th, 2005 for consideration.

Satellite Meeting

The 44th annual NMR meeting of the Japanese NMR Society will be held prior to the 1st Asia-Pacific NMR Symposium. Participants of the Asia-Pacific symposium are encouraged to participate the annual NMR meeting. 1st Asia-Pacific NMR Symposium registration fees include conference fees for the 44th annual NMR meeting of Japanese NMR Society.
